User Friendly, High-Quality, Affordable.

Company Information

Who we are

The family business Venen Engel was founded in 2017 in Schluechtern, Germany and is supplier of high-quality gliding wave massage devices. With our Venen Engel products we support our customers globally to find a new attitude towards life. Heavy legs and tired extremities are a thing of the past, thanks to the safe and controlled application of pressure through inflatable arm, leg and trouser cuffs. By exerting pressure on the extremities, the removal of metabolic waste products is promoted. This leads to a reduction of leg/arm circumference and the feeling of heavy legs, as well as an improvement of the skin complexion. Through the continuous control and improvement of our products, we can ensure their high-quality, innovation and ease-of-use. Our professional customer support department in Germany provides in-depth technical support, as well as tailor-made guidance for all of our clients. Together with you, we will steadily improve our products and continue to develop them further.

#strongtogether – that is Venen Engel

Our mission

Heavy & aching legs, water retention, lipedema or lymphedema are unfortunately not uncommon to a large number of our population. Those affected need an affordable and simple solution for their problems in the everyday life.

The Venen Engel team has specialized itself in this segment and helps customers around the world, to live a happier and healthier life.

Many people feel left alone with their problems and experience little medical or social support.

For us at Venen Engel it is tremendously important to establish a community and point-of-contact, that offers answers to all of our customers' questions and their problems.

Our vision

The goal of Venen Engel is to create a holistic platform for the normal everyday life and that covers exactly the forementioned subject areas, that play an important role and are often neglected: supportive nutrition, beneficial stretching and fitness exercises, wellness and beauty and of course all medical fields. In addition to the practical everyday helpers and our gliding wave massage devices, Venen Engel is a source of information for a healthy and happy lifestyle. Together we are strong – and light as a feather.

How it works

Our efficient gliding wave massage is carried out with the help of arm, leg and trouser cuffs, which consist of several inflatable air chambers.

By systematically inflating these external cuffs, the venous and arterial blood flow is increased, which helps to drive the blood towards the heart. Excess body fluids and the metabolic end products contained therein are thus fed into the urinary system for disposal. Compression, i.e. the exertion of circular pressure on the extremities, helps to reduce water retention, leg circumference and it improves the skin complexion.

01.

Systematic inflation of external arm, abdomen, leg and trouser cuffs from feet up to groin/lower back or from fingers to the shoulder (basically from ends of extremities to the center of the body)

02.

Exerting pressure on the muscles drives venous blood towards the heart

03.

Excess body fluids and the metabolic end products contained therein are fed to organs such as the urinary system or the liver for disposal

04.

Compression, i.e. the exertion of circular pressure on the extremities, helps to reduce water retention, leg circumference and it improves the skin complexion.

Why does Venen Engel help?

- Stimulating the lymph nodes and thereby increasing the flow rate
- Pressure on the tissue ensures that more lymphatic loads are pushed into the lymphatic vessels.
- Transmission to the lymph nodes is improved
- Tactile stimulus leads to pain relief, muscle tone reduction, loosening of fascial adhesions and thus better lymph flow

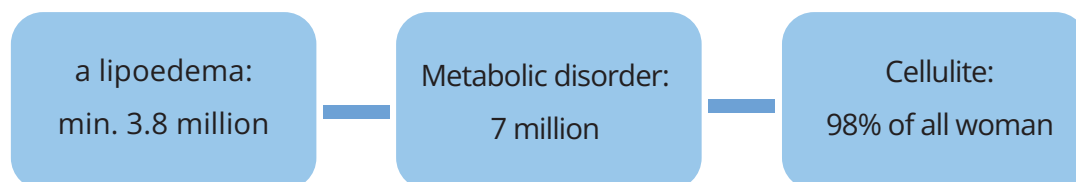

Target group

With the unique gliding wave massage, Venen Engel stands for enhanced well-being, ease and health in the everyday life - and everyone deserves that. Women in particular, but also men with health restrictions, benefit from our gliding wave massage:

- Medical: lipedema or lymphedema, water retention, venous insufficiency, thrombosis
- Pain: Heavy, aching legs, leg circumference
- Beauty: cellulite, orange peel skin
- Wellness: relaxation, massage

So many people suffer globally from:

The age range is between 25 - 65 and we aim to support each age group with their own needs. The usage of our Venen Engel products can help to achieve a better body image, treat complaints and also provide relief for medical issues. Because women are more genetically predisposed and more "susceptible" to water retention and cellulite, they are in our main focus. More mature women and men who suffer particularly from medical problems can get pain relief and more ease for their everyday activities. Whether young or old, Venen Engel wants to reach all people and provide support for their individual needs.

"Thumbs up for a sensational device [...] I thought about it for a long time and it is definitely worth the money."

Bewertung

It is so soothing and regenerating. The legs feel light, the joints are better supplied with blood and less painful.

Bewertung

Good advice, great product - a good alternative to expensive rehabilitation products

Bewertung

If I use the Venen Engel regularly, about 30 minutes a day, I hardly have any swollen legs.

Bewertung

It only lasted a few days and my heavy legs allowed me to go for walks and painless movements again.

Medical

Gliding wave massage against heavy legs

With our gliding wave massage devices, we address a large target group and support them in overcoming their complaints. This includes specific medical conditions such as water retention, lipedema or lymphedema, venous insufficiency and thrombosis, among others. By working closely with physiotherapists, doctors and experts, we educate people about common ailments, provide info material and offer support with authentic testimonials. Thanks to strong social media movements like "Body Positivity", we try not to see the limitation behind a diagnosis, but to uncover the opportunities behind it, to give courage, strength and new hope along the way.

At the same time we are a contact point for medical experts by informing doctors, physiotherapists and experts about the positive health effects of gliding wave massage. The goal is to learn from each other and enjoy everyday life with more ease and enjoyment of life.

Venen Engel 6 Premium and Venen Engel 8 Premium are certified medical products. Advice is provided by physiotherapists trained as medical product advisors.

Our focus of content

Nutrition

Thousands of diets and nutrition methods are circulating on the Internet, which are supposed to solve problems and make the longed-for dream figure possible. However, one factor is often underestimated and not considered: Every body is different and has individual needs. We would like to cover these topics and many question marks in the nutrition area, without setting up dogmatic rules or copying nutrition trends. We want to inform, but not impose. We want to inspire, but still leave room for individual needs and tastes. With the right tips, anyone interested can see for themselves whether the recipes help, taste and are fun.

Fitness

It is scientifically proven that sport makes you healthy and happy. So it is all the more important to take this aspect into account on our holistic platform. With targeted stretching exercises, workouts and tips from certified physiotherapists, we would like to inform beginners and advanced users and provide practical knowledge on how holistic health can be supportive, next to the gliding wave massage. If the muscular-fascial tissue is severely shortened and overstretched, additional pain and restrictions in everyday life can arise. The tissue becomes slugged and over-acidified, contributing to many ailments from the thigh to the foot. This not only has lasting effects on well-being, but also on the structure of the skin. A gliding wave massage is perfectly suited for regeneration after light or strenuous exercise, so that these two aspects can be combined.

Wellness

In our stressful everyday lives there is little time for rest and relaxation. But exactly these times of rest and regeneration are incredibly important for the body to work on "physical construction sites", to renew the cells and to regulate the nervous system. For this reason, the wellness and relaxation factor is also crucial for greater well-being and ease. But when are there moments in everyday life that invite you to relax and provide an opportunity to get away from external pressure and stress?

This is where Venen Engel Time can offer not only relaxation for the body, but also a welcome break for the mind. By helping the body and mind work in harmony rather than against each other, we can actually become fitter and more energetic. We know: A happy and content person has completely different resources and strengths to better deal with all the challenges of everyday life.
